STUDY ABROAD upei.ca/studyabroad

Studying in another country for UPEI credits is one of the most rewarding experiences a student can have!

Studying at UPEI and experiencing life on Prince Edward Island is great—living on an island has a unique feeling!

But getting to live in another country for a year while studying abroad impacted my perspective in such a positive way. I learned things about myself that I would have otherwise not known. The ability to be somewhere by yourself and integrate into your environment is a valuable skill.

I was in Australia during the beginning of the COVID-19 pandemic, and both UPEI and La Trobe University in Melbourne were very communicative and supportive. At no point did I feel nervous to be there.

La Trobe went above and beyond to prepare the international students for life on campus and in Australia by providing us with a comprehensive orientation. They also had optional trips available to travel and bond with other international students. I travelled up the east coast of Tasmania with five close friends whom I met during orientation, and it was one of the best trips I've ever taken.

In my first year at UPEI, I wasn't meeting assignment dates and didn't have the motivation to study.

The Gateway Program workshops and student mentors helped me with learning strategies and provided advice on planning, writing, and editing papers and assignments. I gained a better understanding of what the expectations and requirements were for my university career.

My mentor also helped me in many other ways than just academics. She introduced me to activities and intramural sports with the UPEI Athletics and Recreation department, and helped me identify student jobs on campus. Thanks to the Gateway Program, I expanded my academic resources and social contacts in my first year, which is vital for any university student!

Some days I'm providing confidential services like referrals or accommodations to survivors in the University community. Other days I'm educating students, staff, and faculty about preventing sexual violence in the workplace.

UPEI is unique in that students have easy accessibility to staff and faculty to meet their needs and individual ability to impact change. Our large international student population also brings a diversity of perspectives and experience to our campus.

When I arrived at UPEI in the summer of 2018, it was a real culture shock. The University seemed so big, but as I met more and more people on campus, it became smaller, and I really enjoyed the sense of community. I love the level of safety here on PEI, and the family-oriented feeling of everyone being so kind.

My program is really enjoyable too! I love the in-class discussions and hearing different points of view, talking about how other countries' political systems work, and what other students in class find unique about the different political cultures in their home countries.

I want to become a politician and a business owner in The Bahamas—the political system there is the same as Canada's—it's the main reason I wanted to study in this country. I'd like to one day come back as a Canadian citizen and donate to UPEI to say “thank you” for everything the people here have done to help me.

I chose UPEI primarily for the basketball program. I knew I wanted to go to a school that gave me the best chance to win, and that's exactly what UPEI had to offer. And UPEI offered the program that I wanted!

I was drawn to the idea of attending a smaller university with smaller class sizes. I knew that it would be much easier to get to know my professors here and develop more personal relationships with them.

I've really enjoyed my first two years at UPEI. Like anyone, I was nervous going into my first year and didn't quite know what to expect, but from day one, UPEI's atmosphere has been very welcoming and inviting. As a first-year student, I discovered so many opportunities to meet new people and become more accustomed to student life.

The strong community atmosphere that surrounds varsity sports at UPEI is unique. Being a part of the women's basketball team has allowed me to meet so many new people—from long-time supporters of the team to the kids who never fail to make an appearance at every home game! Knowing that we are seen as role models to many of these kids makes my experience at UPEI all the more gratifying.
